Abstract

A great admirer of Abraham Lincoln, W.W. Griest's aim was to assemble one copy of every known likeness of the 16th President. Most of the images of Lincoln are reproductions of original 19th-century photographs, lithographs, engravings and mezzotints culled from contemporary (early-20th century) publications as well as images distributed in the early 1900s as commemoratives such as calendars, stamps, prints, etc. The collection also contains a few original 19th-century pieces such as Currier and Ives-type lithographs and carte-de-visites. In addition, Griest collected published Civil-War era political speeches and 1910-1930 historical literature about Abraham Lincoln.

Historical/Biographical Information

William Walton Griest was born in Christiana, PA, in 1858 and graduated from Millersville State Normal School in 1876. After graduation he taught school for three years, then became a reporter and editor for the Lancaster Inquirer. In the 1880s, he became interested in political affairs and went on to serve in numerous public roles, including: Chief Clerk for the County Commissioners, Lancaster School Board Director, and Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In 1908, Griest was elected to the United States House of Representatives, where he introduced progressive ideas for improvements in education, transportation, farm aid, conservation, and mail service for his constituents. Perhaps Griest's most notable accomplishment was the introduction of a bill in 1911 calling for the construction of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, DC (which was completed in 1913). Griest continued to serve as a Republican Congressman until his death in 1929.
